

Dear Students,

I am so honored and blessed to have the opportunity to minister and work at Unity Christian School and, mostly, to have the opportunity to teach and get to know YOU this year! Here is a little information about me that will help you get to know your homeroom teacher a little better.

I am a 2006 graduate of Berry College where I received my Bachelor of Science degree in Early Childhood Education. I also ran cross country and track at Berry and still enjoy running today (when I can fit it in). The 2011-2012 school year will be my sixth year teaching. At Unity Christian School, I teach History and Science for my 4th-6th grade team. I am the varsity girls' basketball coach with the assistance of my WONDERFUL husband, Matthew Stone, who is a former marine that is working toward his teaching degree. We have one daughter who is the most BEAUTIFUL little girl! Evelyn Joy will be two in November. One of my favorite things to do is to spend time with my family. This never gets old to me! God has blessed me with such an awesome family. I LOVE them so much! ☺

I am so looking forward to finding out more about you. Enjoy the rest of your break, and I will see you soon!

Solí Deo Gloria!

~Mrs. Stone
